

Biography: Jiawen Zhang is a Senior Researcher at Microsoft Research Asia. Her research focuses on foundation models for time series data, spanning time series modeling and reasoning with large language models. She is particularly interested in cross-domain generalization, learning from irregular and noisy observations, and developing reliable models for real-world applications.

Homepage: Jiawen's Homepage